

ANDY MAYO

:: PRESS RELEASE ::

"Coffee, conversation and music with a soul - all in the best galleries, coffee houses and cafés..."

Through this Spring, guitarist and singer song-writer Andy Mayo will be playing a series of "Acoustic Cafés" across the UK. Playing without his powerful five-piece band, the music takes on a very personal quality in such intimate settings - this is deepened as Andy shares some of the stories behind his songs.

"I love the buzz of these Acoustic Cafe events" explains Andy, "it takes the songs back to the kind of atmosphere that they originated from..."

Drawing on an extensive repertoire of three published albums as well as new material from his next CD, these will be evenings to savour. Inspired to write about big themes impacting everyday lives, Andy's music has been described in the press as, "continually suffused with transcendent hope".

With an eclectic mix of styles drawing from blues, jazz, folk and a hint of funk, Andy's music fits well into the unique and vibrant ambience of these intimate venues.
